

SPARKS' PERSPECTIVE

*Ron Sparks
Commissioner*

Alabama Public Television and Alabama Public Radio accompanied members of my staff on a recent trip to Cuba to learn more about the growing trade relationship between Alabama and the island nation. Many people have preconceived ideas of what it would be like in Havana, but Tara Hutchison with APT and Gina Smith of APR were able to experience the city, the people, and culture firsthand. I think many Americans are especially surprised by the Cuban people and how genuinely hospitable they are. While our form of government may be very different from Cuba's, you learn quickly that just as in other parts of the world, people are basically the same.

Although Cubans do not regularly travel outside their country, they are not removed from the world. They are sheltered in some ways, but not isolated. They have CNN, watch the World Cup, and listen to music from around the world. They have products produced in Europe, Asia, and from many countries. The Cuban people are also quite curious about our country and our lives. Many of the people have relatives in the United States and almost everyone has a story to share.

While in Havana, Ms. Hutchison and Ms. Smith were able to interview Pedro Alvarez, Chairman of Alimport and Marilu B'Hamel, head of the North American Division of the Ministry of Foreign Trade. They learned about medical and agricultural research at the Center for Genetic Engineering and Biotech. They also visited Hermanos Armejeiras Hospital, a leading center for transplants and the maternity center Dona Leonor Perez.

I invite you to listen and watch the special programs on Alabama's trade with Cuba on Alabama Public Radio and Alabama Public Television. To listen to APR's Gina Smith report on Cuba, go to our website www.agi.alabama.gov and click on the APR link. There are segments under "APR News" and previous Cuban stories will be under "also." APT will have a series of four stories on Cuba on September 4-7, 2006 on "For the Record" at 6:30 p.m. each day. The programs will also air again at 11 p.m. each day.

Being able to export our products to Cuba has had a tremendous and direct effect on Alabama. Last year, exports to Cuba had an impact of $300 million on Alabama's economy. Since 2001, Alimport has not only bought poultry, but also utility poles, soybeans, cotton, pork, and snack foods. Because of the success we have had over the last few years, the Department of Agriculture and Industries will continue to work with Alabama farmers and producers to promote the sale of their products to Cuba.

Commissioner Ron Sparks proudly announced that the Alabama Department of Agriculture and Industries has distributed over $5,000,000 in disaster funds to aquaculture producers in Alabama. The funding is provided by a USDA grant that will help reestablish the farmers' purchasing power. There are 160 aquaculture operations in the state that received disaster assistance.

Producers who were affected by the 2005 hurricanes were able to apply for the federal funds through July 31, 2006. Those who met the qualifications for the program received their checks by the end of August.

"We appreciate what the Alabama Congressional delegation has been able to do to provide help for the aquaculture industry," said Sparks. "We wanted to be sure to get this money out as quickly as possible. Many producers still have levees that need to be rebuilt, ponds to fill, and equipment to replace. I hope these funds help strengthen the industry in Alabama."

"This is the salt of the earth," Congressman Davis told farmers gathered at the Kyser's home. "Y'all are the guys that move the economy forward down here. Because we take what you do for granted, it seems like there are fewer and fewer of you every year."

PRODUCT SPOTLIGHT

Microwave Roasters, first developed in 2001, is an Alabama company located in Selma with a unique line of products developed by a patented technology. Along the concept of microwavable popcorn, these tasty treats "pop" in your own microwave oven giving you a fresh, warm, crispy snack which is very low in fat, low or zero carbs and low in calories. Microwave Roasters is also more affordable than most other competing microwavable snacks in the market today!

Microwave Roasters offers four exciting products including: MICRO RINDS-These are microwave pork rinds offered in two flavors, Original and Hot N Spicy. As an additional nutritional benefit, pork rinds are the only crispy snack in the market which are zero-carb. Also, MICRO RINDS are not deep fried, making them only 3 grams of fat per serving, in comparison with most other pork rinds containing 10-14 grams of fat per serving. MICRO RINDS' are always fresh after popping, while most other deep fried pork rinds become stale much faster.

MICRORINGS-Very comparable to Funyuns®, yet microwavable and much healthier, MICRO RINGS include three times the amount per bag for the same low price. MICRO RINGS also contain only 1 gram of fat per bag while most other fried snacks like them contain 18 grams! MICRO BAK'N-This is the only bacon-flavored chip on the market and is very low in fat, carbs and calories. This is the perfect, tasty topping to add to salads and baked potatoes and even to make a BLT!

Look for Microwave Roasters products in Winn Dixie and your local supermarkets. Or for further information, contact the Department of Agriculture and Industries on the web at www.agi.alabama.gov or contact Microwave Roasters at 334/875-2688.

Wheat and Feed Grains Referendum

Alabama wheat and feed grain producers will go to the polls Thursday, October 5, to decide whether the state wheat and feed grain checkoff program should be continued for five more years at the current rate of 1 cent per bushel on corn, wheat, grain sorghum and oats sold in Alabama.

Producers who produced feed grains in 2005 or planted for harvest in 2006 will be eligible to vote. State law requires a statewide producer referendum to be held every five years on whether the program should be continued. If approved, checkoff funds would be used to finance research, education and promotion activities aimed at furthering the development of the state's wheat and feed grain industry.

Brian Glenn, chairman of the Alabama Wheat & Feed Grain Producers, said, over the years the checkoff has funded variety tests as well as research on insect and disease control, conservation practices and precision agriculture.

"It's challenging times like the current drought where our checkoff funds really shine," said Glenn. "It's time like these - when we can't afford to do the experimentation that we'd like to do on our own - that's when our checkoff funds probably have the greatest value."

The checkoff program is voluntary. Funds are collected from producers by grain buyers and remitted to the Alabama Department of Agriculture and Industries, which turns over the funds quarterly to the Alabama

Wheat & Feed Grains Producers, a division of the Alabama Farmers Federation. A producer committee representing Alabama wheat and feed grain producer members across the state determines how the funds are distributed.

On October 5, Alabama wheat and feed grain producers will be able to vote between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. at their county polling sites. No proxy voting will be allowed, and no ballots will be accepted via mail.

For more information, contact Buddy Adamson at 334/613-4216 or 1-800-392-5705, ext 4216. The referendum is authorized by Act of 1985, No. 85-701 of the Alabama Legislature's 1985 regular session.
